

Happy New Year. I would like to extend my greetings to all on the occasion of celebrating 2025. We have less than 100 days to go until the opening of the Osaka-Kansai Expo in April. Preparations for the Expo, including the construction of overseas pavilions, are steadily underway, giving us the sense that the opening is drawing ever closer. In addition to receiving updates from the secretariat, I would like to visit the Expo site again for an inspection tour in the upcoming days, if circumstances permit.

The Expo will serve as a golden opportunity for Japan to deepen exchange with the world and share its appeal with the global community. As I concurrently serve as Minister of State for Regional Revitalization, I believe the Expo will also serve as an opportunity for visitors from around the world to discover Japan’s many regional charms, leading to the revitalization of our country as a whole.

Cooperation from all stakeholders is essential for making the Expo a success. I sincerely ask for your continued support as we approach the event’s opening.

- December 24; The Association, with support from Sekisui Chemical, released to the press perovskite solar cells to be installed at the bus terminal at the Expo site. The 257 film-shaped solar cells, which cover a rounded roof for a distance of about 250 metres, will provide power source for night-time lighting. This is the first time in Japan that such a large number of solar cells have been installed in a public facility.

- December 24; The Association has announced details of the Ao and the Night Rainbow Parade, to be held every day during the Expo. The details include the character design, voice actors and theme song. The event, which will be held by the Water Plaza, will include a water show linked to the parade and content making use of augmented reality (AR) technology.
